We may record CCTV footage in and around our premises and other locations for our clients and employees' safety and to protect against theft, property damage, and fraud.

2 How We Use Your Information and Legal Bases

We may use your personal information in the following ways. Under certain countries' data protection laws, including those in the EU and the United Kingdom (UK), the use of personal information must be justified under several legal bases. We must set out the legal bases in respect of each use in this policy. An explanation of the scope of the legal bases available can be found in paragraph 4 below. For each use, we note the legal bases that we rely on:

- (a) To register you or your company as a user ► you will create an account by providing the relevant information specified in paragraph 1(a) above.
Legal bases: contract performance, legitimate interests (to allow us to on-board you as a user);

- (b) To verify your identity, protect against fraud and manage risk ► for certain users, to conduct KYC, AML, and other checks on your directors/employees to decide whether to register you. Other organisations and the DSB may access and use certain information to prevent fraud, money laundering and terrorism as may be required by applicable law and regulation and best practice at any given time, including checking against sanctions, politically exposed persons (PEP) and other fraud or crime screening databases. If false or inaccurate information is provided and fraud is identified or suspected, details may be passed to fraud prevention agencies and recorded by them or by us.
Legal bases: legal obligations, legitimate interests (to ensure you fall within our acceptable risk profile, cooperate with law enforcement and regulatory authorities, and prevent and detect fraud/crime). Concerning special categories of personal information, we will usually rely on legal claims, substantial public interests (processing for the prevention and detection of fraud/crime) or, very rarely where necessary, explicit consent;
- (c) To provide our services effectively to you ► to administer our services, including to carry out our obligations arising from any agreements entered into between you and us, or to notify you about changes to our services and products. This includes enabling you to access the DSB Service and data located on the DSB Service.
Legal bases: contract performance, legitimate interests (to enable us to perform our obligations and provide services to you);
- (d) To comply with legal or regulatory requirements, or as otherwise permitted by law, ► we may process your personal information to comply with our regulatory requirements or dialogue with our regulators or defend or prosecute claims as applicable, which may include disclosing your personal information to third parties, the court service and/or regulators or law enforcement agencies in connection with enquiries, proceedings or investigations by such parties anywhere in the world. Where permitted, we will direct any such request to you or notify you before responding unless to do so would prejudice the prevention or detection of a crime.
Legal bases: legal obligations, legitimate interests (to cooperate with law enforcement and regulatory authorities). Concerning special categories of personal information, we will usually rely on legal claims, substantial public interests (processing for the prevention and detection of fraud/crime) or, very rarely where necessary, explicit consent;
- (e) To monitor certain activities ► to monitor queries, complaints, and transactions to ensure service quality (including training), compliance with procedures, and combat fraud.
Legal bases: legal obligations, legitimate interests (to ensure the quality and legality of our services). Concerning special categories of personal information, we will usually rely on legal claims, substantial public interests (processing for the prevention and detection of fraud/crime) or, very rarely where necessary, explicit consent;
- (f) To provide marketing materials to you ► to provide you with updates and offers, you have chosen to receive these. We may use your information for marketing our own and selected business partners' services to you by email, post and telephone. Where required by law, we will ask for your consent when we collect your data to conduct any of these types of marketing. We will provide an option to unsubscribe or opt-out of further communication on any electronic marketing communication sent to you. You may opt-out by contacting us as set out in paragraph 5(5) below.

Use justification: consent (which can be withdrawn at any time – please see paragraph 5(1) below), legitimate interest where are not required to rely on consent (to keep you updated with news concerning our products and services);

- (g) Ensure the DSB GUI functions correctly ► to ensure that content from the DSB GUI is presented in the most effective manner for you and your computer.

Use justification: contract performance, legitimate interests (to allow us to provide you with the content and services on the DSB GUI);

- (h) To understand our customers and develop and tailor our products and services ► , we may better analyse the personal information we hold to understand our clients' services and marketing requirements, better understand our business, and develop our products and services.

Use justification: legitimate interests (to allow us to improve our services);

- (i) To inform you of changes ► to notify you about changes to our service.

Use justification: contract performance, legitimate interests (to allow us to develop our services continuously); and

- (j) To reorganise or make changes to our business ► if we (i) are subject to negotiations for the sale of our business or part thereof to a third party, (ii) are sold to a third party or (iii) undergo a reorganisation, we may need to transfer some or all of your personal information to the relevant third party (or its advisors) as part of any due diligence process to analyse any proposed sale or reorganisation. We may also need to transfer your personal information to that reorganised entity or third party after the sale or reorganisation for them to use for the same purposes as set out in this policy.

Use justifications: legitimate interests (to allow us to change our business).

3 Disclosures to Third parties

We may transfer your personal information to third parties for the purposes set out below and per the lawful bases set out in paragraph 2 above:

- (a) To allow us to provide our services to you effectively, we may disclose your information to selected third parties ► We may permit selected third parties such as business partners, suppliers, service providers, agents and contractors to use your personal information for the purposes set out in paragraph 4 above who will be subject to obligations to process such information in compliance with the same safeguards that we deploy.
- (b) To comply with our legal obligations to law enforcement, regulators, and the court service ► We may disclose your personal information to third parties, the court service and/or regulators or law enforcement agencies in connection with proceedings or investigations anywhere in the world where compelled to do so. Where permitted, we will direct any such request to you or notify you before responding unless to do so would prejudice the prevention or detection of a crime.
- (c) To transfer your information when the structure of the business changes ► If we (or a part thereof) are (i) subject to negotiations for the sale of its business or (ii) is sold to a third party or (iii) undergoes a reorganisation, you agree that any of your personal information which

We hold may be transferred to that reorganised entity or a third party and used for the same purposes as set out in this policy, or to analyse any proposed sale or reorganisation. We will ensure that no more of your information is transferred than necessary.

- (d) To conduct certain checks on you, such as KYC, credit checks and anti-fraud checks ► If false or inaccurate information is provided and fraud is identified or suspected, details may be passed to the relevant authorities, including credit reference agencies and fraud prevention agencies. We will also record this. Law enforcement agencies may access and use this information. Other organisations that may access and use information recorded by such agencies may do so from other countries.

4 Legal bases

We note the legal bases we use to justify each use of your personal information next to the use in paragraph 2 above.

A more detailed explanation of the legal bases is set out below:

Consent: where you have consented to our use of your information (you will have been presented with a consent form concerning any such use. You are free to withdraw your consent by contacting us using the details set out in the "Contacting us" section below. If you do so, we may be unable to provide a service that requires the use of such information.
Contract performance: Where your information is necessary to enter into or perform our contract with you.
Legal obligation: We need to use your information to comply with our legal obligations.
Legitimate interests: where we use your information to achieve a legitimate interest, and our reasons for using it outweigh any prejudice to your data protection rights.

These are the principal legal grounds that justify our use of your special categories of personal information:

Legal claims: We are required to process your personal information to establish, defend, prosecute or make a claim against you, us or a third party.
In the substantial public interest: the processing is necessary for reasons of substantial public interest, based on EU or local law; and
Explicit consent: where you have given explicit consent to the processing of those personal data for one or more specified purposes (this will rarely be relied on). You are free to withdraw your consent by contacting us using the details set out in the "Contacting us" section below. If you do so, we may be unable to provide a service that requires the use of such information.

5 Transmission, Storage and Security of Your Personal Information

- (1) We use physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect against unauthorised use, access, modification, destruction, disclosure, loss or theft of your personal information in our custody or control.

- (2) We have agreements and controls in place with third-party service providers requiring that any information we provide to them must be safeguarded and used only to provide the service we have requested the company to perform.

5.1 Security Over the Internet

- (3) No data transmission over the Internet or a DSB Service can be guaranteed to be secure from intrusion. However, per data protection legislative requirements, we maintain commercially reasonable physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to protect your personal information.
- (4) All personal information you provide is stored on our or our subcontractors' secure servers and accessed and used subject to our security policies and standards. We have given you (or where you have chosen) a password that enables you to access certain parts of our site. You are responsible for keeping this password confidential and complying with any other security procedures that we notify you of. We ask you not to share a password with anyone.

5.2 International Transfer of Your Information

- (5) Your personal information may be accessed by staff or suppliers in, transferred to, and/or stored at a destination outside of your country. Data protection laws may be of a lower standard than those in your country. We will, in all circumstances, safeguard personal information as set out in this Privacy Policy.
- (6) When we transfer personal information outside your country, we may be required to take specific additional measures to safeguard the relevant personal information. With regard to transfers outside the EEA and the UK, certain countries outside the EEA and the UK have been approved by the European Commission or the UK Secretary of State (as applicable) as providing essentially equivalent protections for personal data. Therefore, no additional safeguards are required to export personal information to these jurisdictions. In countries that have not had these approvals (see the complete list of approved countries here: http://ec.europa.eu/justice/data-protection/international-transfers/adequacy/index_en.htm), we will establish legal grounds justifying such transfer, such as EU Commission-approved model contractual clauses, or other legal grounds permitted by applicable legal requirements.
- (7) Please contact us if you would like to see a copy of the safeguards applied to export your personal information.

5.3 Storage Limits

- (8) Our retention periods for personal data are based on business needs and legal requirements. We will retain your personal information for as long as is necessary for the processing purpose(s) for which it was collected and any other permitted linked purpose. For example, specific transaction details and correspondence may be retained until the time limit for claims regarding the transaction has expired or to comply with regulatory requirements regarding the retention of such data). When personal information is no longer needed, we either irreversibly anonymise the data (and we may further retain and use the anonymised information) or securely destroy the data.

6 Your Rights

- (1) You have the right to ask us not to process your personal information for marketing purposes. We will inform you if we intend to use your information for such purposes or if we intend to disclose your information to any third party for such purposes. You can exercise your right to prevent such processing by checking certain boxes on our forms to collect your personal information. You can also exercise the right at any time by contacting us, as set out in paragraph 7 below.
- (2) Concerning processing criminal convictions data and politically exposed person data to comply with our anti-money laundering obligations and to combat fraud, we consider that our processing is permitted by the substantial public interest ground (to prevent or detect crime). Still, to the extent it is not you give, we rely on your consent to process that type of personal information. Although you have a right to withdraw such consent at any time, as we consider the processing necessary for us to provide our services, its withdrawal (to the extent the processing cannot be justified on substantial public interest grounds) may require us to cease to provide certain services.
- (3) If you have any questions concerning our use of your personal information, you should first contact us as per the "Contacting Us" section below. Under certain conditions, you may have the right to require us to:
 - (a) provide you with further details on the use we make of your personal information;
 - (b) provide you with a copy of personal information that you have provided to us;
 - (c) update any inaccuracies in the personal information we hold;
 - (d) delete any personal information that we no longer have a lawful ground to use; and
 - (e) restrict how we use your personal information whilst a complaint is being investigated.

You also have the right to:

- (f) where processing is based on consent, withdraw your consent so that we stop that particular processing;
 - (g) object to any processing based on the legitimate interests ground unless our reasons for undertaking that processing outweigh any prejudice to your data protection rights; and
 - (h) restrict how we use your personal information whilst a complaint is being investigated.
- (4) Your exercise of these rights is subject to certain exemptions to safeguard the public interest (e.g., the prevention or detection of crime) and our interests (e.g., the maintenance of legal privilege). If you exercise any of these rights, we will check your entitlement and respond in most cases within a month.
- (5) Suppose you are not satisfied with our use of your personal information or our response to any exercise of these rights. In that case, you have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office as follows:

Information Commissioner's Office

Wycliffe House
Water Lane
Wilmslow
Cheshire
SK9 5AF

Helpline number: 0303 123 1113

6.1 Updating Information

- (6) We are committed to maintaining the accuracy of your personal information and ensuring that it is complete and up-to-date. If you discover inaccuracies in our records or your information changes, please notify us immediately to make the necessary changes. Failure to notify us of changes to your personal information may negatively impact how we communicate or provide services to you. Where appropriate, we will advise others of any material amendments to your personal information that we may have released to them. If we do not agree to make the amendments you request, you may challenge our decision as described in the "Contacting us" section below.
